SITUATION IN IRELAND STILL TROUBLESOME

(By Associated Press)

Dublin, July 11—The truce in England agreed upon by the government officials and republican leaders pending peace negotiations went into effect at noon today. In Dublin the complete disappearance from the streets of the military police forces and armored cars marked the beginning of the truce. In Londonderry the police handed in their revolvers and went on street duty unarmed. In Belfast where disorders began Sunday, were still continuing in lesser degrees, the police retained their arms.

Belfast, July 11—The curfew was reimposed here today as a result of the disorders of Sunday. Belfast now is the only place in Ireland under curfew regulations. A great deal of revolver firing developed this morning in Stanhope street and the adjoining Carrick Hill district. At one hospital bullet wounds were treated. The freight and mail train from Belfast to Londonderry was attacked at Carrick Hill, County, Tyro, this morning, and six cars with contents were burned and the line torn up.

Reports from Tampico are that the situation is quiet and that no disturbance has taken place.

(By Associated Press)

BRITISH CABINET DISCUSS PRESIDENT HARDING'S NOTE

(By Associated Press)

London, July 11—President Harding's note regarding a conference on limitation of armaments was understood to have been accepted by the British cabinet today. The note was received by the American embassy here yesterday and Ambassador Harvey immediately went to Premier Lloyd George at the latter's home. There was great activity at the British foreign office early in the day. Lord Curzon, secretary for foreign affairs, interviewed both Ambassador Hayvey and Baron Hayashi, the Japanese ambassador before leaving for the cabinet meeting. Later the Chinese minister called. President Harding's proposal was the one topic of conversation in diplomatic quarters. Expressions of satisfaction are general and the belief was voiced that the Washington conference if it were agreed upon would only be comparable in importance to the British peace conference.

PRESIDENT'S SUGGESTION OF DISARMAMENT IS TOPIC IN ALL LANDS

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 11—The course of the United States was definitely set today toward new goals of international importance. Limitation of armaments and a solution involving the problems of the Pacific Coast and the Far East. President Harding, it was revealed in the state department announcement published today, has approached with informal but definite inquiries the governments of Great Britan, France, Italy and Japan to ascertain whether it would be agreeable to those nations to participate in a conference to be held in Washington at an agreed date, for discussion of armament limitation. He has furthermore suggested to the nations interested in the problems of the Pacific and the Far East that there be undertaken in connection with the conference "the consideration of all matters bearing upon their solution with a view to reaching a common understanding with respect to principles and policies in the Far East."

RAIN INTERFERED WITH S. A. TAG DAY RESULTS

The annual Salvation Army tag day held on Saturday did not prove very successful owing to the bad weather and but $270.68 was collected. In the recent Salvation Army drive the quota for Portsmouth was $6300. The sum of $2000 more was necessary to make up the quota and with the poor results of tag day the quota falls short by $2628.32.

Collectors were out on the street on Saturday but owing to the downpour they had to give up a part of the afternoon and about all the evening, and this, of course, caused the collections to be much smaller.

Mrs. Florence Cummings, Mrs. Ernest Chaney and Mrs. Wallace Lear did able work to assist the taggers in the Chamber of Commerce office where the headquarters were on Saturday.

Any who have not given a donation and would care to do so, or who were unable to be out Saturday and were not solicited may send their donation to Captain Frederick Forcur at the Salvation Army hall on State street and it will be added to the fund collected for tag day.

CELEBRATES HER 84TH BIRTHDAY

A surprise recently occurred at the home of George Hamilton, North Berwick, Me., the occasion being the 84th birthday of Mrs. Maria E. Tilton, a former music teacher and organist well known in Kittery and Portsmouth. Rev. G. K. Carter and wife, pastor of the Congregational church at North Berwick with 16 members of his Society called on Mrs. Tilton showering her with post cards, flowers and many gifts. A box of nice fruit from the B. B. class of boys in Sunday school, also a finely decorated birthday cake were among the gifts.

The aged lady has fair health, is bright and cheerful, taking an interest in the events of the day and engaged in several departments of benevolent work, reading and writing daily without glasses. She was deeply touched by the many expressions of interest and regard evidenced by the gifts and the presence of the assembled company and expressed feelingly her appreciation; also her gratitude to the giver of all, God, for His blessings and for friends. The company was honored by the presence of two deacons of the church and two retired clergymen, Rev. B. P. Parker of North Berwick and Rev. Sidney Wakely of Clinton, Me. Both were formerly pastors at the Free Baptist church at Kittery Point. Mrs. Frank Bedell with her family and guests joined the company.

The hours were passed in sociability and singing led by the gifted vocalist Mrs. G. K. Carter. Singing the Doxology and wishing Mrs. Tilton many happy returns of the day, the company with promises to call again, departed.

MASKED MEN STEAL 18 BARRELS OF WHISKEY

New York, July 11.—Eighteen barrels of whiskey were stolen early yesterday morning from a storeroom of the Rooney Lamp Works, 1,311 Willow Avenue, Hoboken, by seven masked men, four of them white and three negroes. The police of Hoboken and Newark later arrested four men said to have taken part in the robbery and recovered the truck used in transporting the whiskey, but the liquor had been disposed of.

Harry J. Dare of 1,300 Washington street, Hoboken, watchman at the plant, told the police that two men with handkerchiefs over the lower part of their faces, and with drawn revolvers, bound and gagged him and then threw him on his face on the floor. They then sawed their way through a door into the storeroom, where for the last two years whisky has been stored for Dennis McDermott, a saloonkeeper, of 1,400 Willow avenue.

ORDER NOT YET RESTORED

Dublin, July 11—The record for the week-end indicated that the order had not reached remote districts. At Rochetown Major C. O'Connor was kidnapped last evening and shot dead. He was formerly a noted unionist, politician and candidate for parliament, but recently had been prominently identified with the southern movement for an Irish settlement.

THE REAL WINNER OF THE FIGHT

Dempsey will have to pay a number to $127,10 on his $300,000 in addition to the normal 1½ of 1 per cent on the first $1,000 of net income and the 8 per cent on net income above that amount. TELEGRAPH BITS

Scranton, Pa., July 10—This city, a good illustration of the mining industry, will go anywhere in order to obtain coaling.

Several cities in ancient days were built beside volcanoes. This is one modern American city which is built over a coal mine.

The present fame and future prosperity of Scranton, a bustling typical American city, literally rests upon the coal industry. From a city of 35,000 fifty years ago Scranton has become the third largest city in Pennsylvania and ranks first among the coal mining cities of the world. This growth has been due to coal and most of the coal mined in the Scranton district comes from underneath the city itself.

Beneath the business block and residential dwellings each day the picks and the cutting machines are digging deeper and deeper into the black power produced which has brought so much wealth to the community.

To the casual visitor it may seem alarming to realize that underneath the streets of the city there is a labyrinth of shafts and tunnels forming an underground city consisting of roadbed connected by an endless series of subways and to know that the very life of the inhabitants is dependent upon the strength of the subways which are left standing.

On the other hand, going to work would seem to be simple instead of a nerve-racking, energy consuming

Scranton is the center of the anthracite coal region. This anthracite coal deposit in Central Pennsylvania is one of the "School of American" mineral resources. The coal occurs in an elliptical basin sopping down through the Lackawanna Valley. The deepest part of the coal basin lies under the central part of the city of Scranton.

Within the city limits there are now 33 mines in operation with an annual production of over six million tons of anthracite coal. These mines have produced since their discovery over 225,000,000 tons of coal which using the coal indoorer within the city limits has contributed something like a billion dollars of productive wealth to the people of Scranton and the owners of the mines. More coal is mined annually in Scranton and the Scranton coal basin has produced a greater total volume of coal than any other city in the world.

Long before New York City had ever dreamed of a subway system the city of Scranton was well established with many miles of underground tunneling.

N. Y. EDITORS AND WRITERS HONOR CHILD

New York, July 8—Richard Washburn Child, the new ambassador to Italy, who sails for that country tomorrow, was the guest of honor at a dinner given by 50 writers and editors of New York here tonight. George Hare Baker, toastmaster, read the following telegram from President Harding:

"The emotions of Ambassador Child in his high post will be designed as not only a personal recognition, but as a recognition of the fine services rendered by the profession which he so creditably represents."

A delegation from the Authors' League, in which Mr. Child holds a membership, was present. The ambassador will be accompanied to Italy by Mrs. Child and their two children.

CAMPAIGN TO REPEAL VOLSTEAD ACT OPENS

New York, July 10.—The New York Anti-Prohibition League, Inc., with offices in the World building, announced yesterday that it had started its campaign for the repeal of the Volstead act. Similar organizations have been formed in every State in the Union. National headquarters will be established in Washington, where the league expects the final fight to be made.

In this city each borough will have a president or manager. Leaders are being appointed in each of the sixty-three Assembly districts of the city and they in turn will name captains for each election district. Similar organizations are to be formed in other cities and towns of the State before the next primaries, when each candidate for office will be asked to declare his stand, "wet" or "dry."

Pamphlets were sent out yesterday by the league outlining its policy. Rules of the league include:

"The league is non-partisan and non-sectarian.

"Both men and women are eligible to membership.

"Dues are $1 a year.

"No officer shall be salaried.

"Money will be spent to foster legislation, advertising and printing."

After stating that the New York Anti-Prohibition League intends to work for the repeal of the "tyrannical Volstead act," the pamphlet continues:

"The league favors legislation which will, under the concurrent clause, permit each state through a vote of its citizens, to determine what enforcement act shall be effective within the borders of the state."

It was announced that hundreds have already joined the organization. The league stresses on the point that it is a peoples' organization. Brewers and other manufacturers of liquors may send contributions if they desire, but under no circumstances are they to have a voice in the league's work, it was said.

THE PAGEANT "THE COMING OF THE MAYFLOWER"

Travel was heavy on Newcastle St., Kittery, Friday evening, the occasion for this being the pageant, "The Coming of the Mayflower," which was given on the Hover estate, which proved to be an ideal place for this event, being very easy for the out of town visitors to find, and the grounds being just right to stage a pageant of this kind.

The grounds were brightly lighted by electric lights, being wired especially for this occasion. The parts were all taken by local people and so well were these parts taken that those viewing the scenes almost forgot the present day and were living back in those first days of all, with those "Pilgrims" sharing the hardships with them, struggling with them and, yes, singing out with them.

It was certainly a pretty scene, the green shrubbery for a back ground, the tall trees, the Pilgrims and their gallant army of "19," and those Indians (who looked so real) moving stealthily about, in and out through the trees. Each and every one taking part deserve a great deal of praise for the way in which they did their parts each one doing his or her part so well, it made the pageant the grand success it was.

DAUGHERTY PLANS PRISON REFORM

To Adopt Osborne System for Penitentiaries.

Washington, July 10.—Atty. Gen. Daugherty is preparing to make a radical change in the administration of the penal institutions of the United States. The extent to which the proposed reorganization will go depends for the most part on a tour of inspection of the principal Federal prisons of the country now being made by Dr. Heber Vonne, brother-in-law of the President and superintendent of the Federal penitentiaries.

In effect the reorganization is nothing more or less than the establishment on a broader scale of a plan similar to that put into effect by Thomas Mott Osborne, which has worked perfectly in many of the largest prisons in the country.

Atty. Gen. Daugherty proposes to go even further, however, than any warden in charge of a State Prison has yet dared to go. He proposes to take first term prisoners who have not been convicted of offenses involving moral turpitude and give them an opportunity to begin life anew after serving the sentence imposed on them, equipped with a trade.

The new idea is still in the formative state, but the background provides for the utilization of one of the big Army cantonments as a prison camp where men who in the opinion of the wardens of the various Federal Prisons can be trusted, will be taught various trades and farming. The work will be very similar to that carried on now by the Federal Board for vocational rehabilitation of disabled soldiers.

The Attorney General is in hopes of securing a cantonment somewhere near Washington. He believes that Camp Meade, which lies just half way between Washington and Baltimore, would be ideal for the purpose, but would be content to have any one of the camps in the East.

THE "DON'TS" FOR HORSES IN HOT WEATHER

Chicago, July 6—Despite the coming of the automobile there are still thirty thousand horses working daily on the streets of Chicago. Faithful servants they are, whose lives are hard at best particularly in the very hot weather, observes B. D. Roberts, secretary of the Chicago Anti-Cruelty Society. He suggests the following "don'ts" to teamsters here and in other cities:

Don't drive fast. The few minutes you save may cost you a horse.

"Don't put on heavy loads."

Don't let your horse stand in the sun. Even if he has to stand for a few minutes, pick out a shady place.

Don't fail to water your horse as often as possible. It will not hurt him if he is worked. If you are going to let him stand for a while only give him a small drink.

Don't use a horse hat unless it has a canopy top. The ordinary kind is worse than none.

Don't fail to watch your horse very closely. If he gets sick don't wait. Get him in the shade, take off the harness and bridle. Wash out his mouth. Sponge him off with cold water. Put cold water or ice on his head, and send for a doctor. Prompt action may save him.

HARDING ASKS FOR CONFERENCE ON ARMAMENT

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 10—President Harding has approached Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan with a view of holding at Washington, a conference for the discussion of a limitation of armament.

The President has suggested to the powers that the international problem of the Pacific and the Far East be discussed at the same time as that of the limitation of armament. This announcement was embodied in a statement issued tonight by the State Department, "by the direction of the President."

London, July 10—The action of the President of the United States with respect to a conference on the limitation of armament will be gladly received all over England not only as a relief from the almost unbearable of taxation, but indirectly as a solution of the problem of the Anglo-Japanese situation.

The American Ambassador George Harvey was a week end visit at the summer estate of Premier Lloyd George, and it is assumed that there has been discussion between them and the Premiers of the Overseas dominions, who are also guests of Mr. Lloyd George.

ENDEAVORS DEMAND U. S. JOIN THE LEAGUE

(By Associated Press)

New York, July 10—More than 16,000 delegates to the sixth World Christian Endeavors Convention today gave a tremendous demonstration for an appeal for a warless world and a demand that the United States join the League of Nations or some International Association for the preservation of peace. Chairman Fred B. Smith of the Inter-church Federation urged the Christian churches to bring pressure to make America a member of the League of Nations or some such organization.

LLOYD GEORGE AND DEVALERA TO MEET THIS WEEK

(By Associated Press)

London, July 10—The British Premier Lloyd George and the Irish republican leader Mr. Eamonn DeValera will probably meet some day this week for a discussion for a basis of settlement of the Irish question. Mr. Lloyd George has asked Mr. DeValera to name the day and has asked him to bring such colleagues with him as he wishes.

The whole British nation now are willing that Ireland be granted a dominion status, if they will drop the idea of a republic. It is pointed out here that this is the first time that Mr. Lloyd George has not placed any restrictions on the conference. The calling of an indefinite truce has raised everybodys hope that peace is finally in sight.

HARDING TAKES WEEK-END CRUISE

Washington, July 10—The President and Mrs. Harding left Washington Saturday for a week-end cruise on the Presidential yacht Mayflower in the lower Potomac and Chesapeake Bay.

At the President's request the Presidential salute and all other military honors were omitted at the Navy Yard as the yacht left. It is not planned to go ashore during the trip, which will end here Monday morning.

The guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harding on the Mayflower included, Secretaries Weeks and Davis, Postmaster General Hays, Senator Watson of Indiana and Mrs. Watson, Senator Kellogg of Minnesota and Mrs. Kellogg, Senator Newberry of Michigan, Senator Hale of Maine and Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board.

During the cruise the President probably will work on the special message he will send to Congress next week regarding bonus legislation. He also will talk over Shipping Board problems with Mr. Lasker. The Shipping Board chairman was to have conferred with him here today, but the conference was transferred to the Mayflower instead.

FREEDOM OF MANKIND THEIR BATTLE CRY

Hoboken, N. Y., July 10—Leaders of dead as they lay in the big army the nation mourned the army war pier here today. The bodies of 7261 men who made the supreme sacrifice in France were arranged in long rows of flag draped coffins.

Congress sent a joint delegation headed by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge who spoke, the army was represented by Asst. Secretary Wainwright and General Pershing, who declared that the "freedom of mankind" was their battle cry.

The bodies of the first three men to be killed in action with Germany were directly in front of the speakers stand. General Pershing said that thes men fought for the eternal right of justice and the freedom of mankind was their battle cry. After Senator Lodge had spoken relatives and friends began the search for the bodies of their boys. Each was numbered and the attendants quickly located the section and directed each person to the right casket.

FINAL RIOTING IN BELFAST 15 KILLED

(By Associated Press)

Belfast, Ire July 10—Rioting broke out in Belfast last night and continued during the day, and it became so serious that the militia had to be called to restore order. The casualties according to the police are 15 killed and 100 wounded. According to the police the trouble started by the firing on patrols by the republicans, and the fighting then became general in the Falls district. At daybreak the fighting spread from Falls road to Townsend street.

ELKS HAVE BIG PROGRAMME

Los Angeles, California, July 10—Six days filled with pageants, parades, excursions, barbecues, ball and business sessions lie ahead of delegates and other members of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks when they arrived here today for the annual session of the grand lodge.

While the grand lodge will not be officially opened until Monday night, the program arranged by Los Angeles lodge provides for something to interest the visitors from the time their special trains pull in Sunday morning until the following Friday, when the gathering closes with a bal at one of Los Angeles new hotels.

Business sessions of the grand lodge open Tuesday. One of its first actions it is expected will be to send a fraternal message to Brother Warren G. Harding, President of the United States.

Election of officers is scheduled for Wednesday. According to local Elks the only person talked of for the office of grand exalted ruler is William W. Mountain, of Flint, Mich. Selection of a place for the 1922 grand lodge meeting is expected to follow.

Business sessions will be on Thursday and Friday. Interspersed will be trips to Catalina Island, Santa Monica, Long Beach, Pasadena, and other nearby resorts. The annual parade in which the delegates and their companions will march, grouped according to States, will be held Thursday morning.

There are 1115 lodges of the order, each of which is entitled to send one delegate. Past exalted rulers of the lodges are also members of the grand lodge, and the local committee anticipates they will swell the number of official representatives at least 2000.

TO HOLD STATE GOLF MEET AT NASHUA

The annual meeting of the New Hampshire State Golf Association was held on Saturday at the Intervale Club in Manchester, with practically all of the clubs of the state represented by delegates.

There was considerable business transacted and it was voted to hold the annual state championship at Nashua Country Club on August 26-27. The date was advanced from the usual date of former years of the week of Labor Day, owing to the lateness of the season and to the fact that the Association has invariable run into bad weather during the first week of September.

The recommendations of the retiring president were that the date of the annual championship be changed to an earlier date that a new method of holding the championship be adopted in another year and that a nominating committee be elected at the annual meeting to bring in the list of officers for the following year. They were all adopted.

It was voted to revise the present by laws of the Association, to include some of the above suggestions and a special committee consisting of Oscar Flather of Nashua, R. M. Randall of Portsmouth and Dr. F. L. Keyes of Rochester, were appointed to revise the by-laws and to make a report at a special meeting of the Association to be held in Nashua the first night of the state meet. The same committee is to make recommendations as to a change in the system of play of the state tournament.

Two plans were suggested, the first that the championship be made a medal play entirely, with 36 holes each day and the low score of the 72 holes to be the state champion. This is admitted the greatest test of golf. Another plan is to make the state meet three days instead of two as at present and instead of the present play, by which there is an eighteen hole qualifying round the first day, with divisions of eight for match play, that afternoon and the following day, with the finals in the afternoon, that the first day by a 36 holes qualifying round, with divisions of either eights for match play with a thirty-six holes final or divisions of 16 for the match play and eighteen holes for the match play. It is admitted that the present 18 holes qualifying round is very unsatisfactory, for it occasionally means that good players are eliminated and inferior players over the short route get into the divisions that they are not able to hold their own in.

The State Association through the big increase in golf will be remodeled on broader lines, with by-laws similar to that of Massachusetts. The State handicap which was started last year will be continued and the rating of the players in this state will be based upon the Massachusetts state handicap which is the basis for the new England handicaps. R. D. McDonough of Portsmouth was re-elected state handicapper.

SUCCEEDS FATHER, WHO WAS KILLED BY YEGG

Manchester, N. H., July 11.—Patrolman William M. Maher last week was named his father's successor as an inspector in the Manchester police department, by the police commission. His promotion was expected as his record has made him highly regarded by his superior officers.

He takes the position left vacant by the death of his father, William M. Maher, Sr., who died Sunday night from wounds received in a gun duel with Oscar Richard, alleged Nashua yegg, who was killed instantly.

The mileage a Mason will deliver is limited only by the care the motorist takes of his tires, and the wearing qualities of the finest possible tire materials.

Barring accidents, a tire, honestly made of the finest possible quality materials must give the longest possible service. The honesty and quality of Mason materials and workmanship are absolutely guaranteed without "ifs" or "buts."

We see no reason for limiting our guaranty of the honesty of Mason Tires to any number of miles. We might as well say a man is absolutely honest—up to $5,000.00.

A Welcome Investigation.

The tax levied by Pennsylvania on coal produced in that state is attracting attention, as well it may, for it means that if such a tax can be collected it will have to be paid by the consumers of the coal, regardless of where they reside. Officials of Massachusetts have taken up the matter and are going to look into it. Fuel Administrator Hultman is at the head of the movement and within a short time representatives of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life and of the Attorney General's office will go to Pennsylvania to continue the investigation that has already been begun through the initiative of the Fuel Administrator.

The state of Pennsylvania has imposed a tax of 1½ per cent of the value of all coal produced in that state, beginning July 1. Another tax is soon to be imposed to reimburse Pennsylvania cities that have been damaged by mining underneath them, but that is an entirely different matter. That is purely a state affair and concerns no one outside of the state except that the tax will doubtless be added to the price of coal, as in the other case.

But the tax first mentioned concerns every user of the product of the Pennsylvania coal fields, for it is they who will have it to pay if the law permits its collection. This is a hardship to which the people of the country should not be subjected if there is any way to prevent it. For this reason the people of New England and other parts of the country that use Pennsylvania coal will hope that a way may be found to prevent adding to the burden they are already bearing in connection with the fuel supply.

Quite aside from the monetary consideration involved, there is here at stake a principle which calls for the most serious consideration. If Pennsylvania can tax coal in this manner, thereby extracting revenue from every consumer of the product regardless of where he lives, what is to prevent states producing wheat, corn, beef and potatoes from taking similar action? How would Pennsylvania and other states which do not produce these things in sufficient quantity like the idea of paying, in addition to the market prices, a tax levied by the states from which they came?

To this paper the principle of the thing appears to be all wrong. People are taxed, and properly, to support the government—local, state and national—and to pay for such public utilities as they elect to have; but heretofore the people of one state have not been called upon to pay taxes to another, which is just exactly what this coal tax amounts to if it stands, for everybody knows that the tax would be added to the price of the coal and paid by the people using it.

Now that investigation has been decided upon, it is to be hoped the matter will be gone into thoroughly and sifted to the bottom. If users of coal must stand for this sort of thing they want to know it, and know why. The outcome of the investigation will be awaited with exceptional interest for those affected are legion, and they are in no mood to pay tribute to the state of Pennsylvania after settling as they have to these days with the purveyors of that state's most important product.

The cold storage plant is starting up and it ought to mean much for this city. Cold storage plays an important part in the business world today and Portsmouth is fortunate in securing such an establishment.

By a ruling of the War Department enlisted men will now be discharged upon application. This step is made possible by the decision to reduce the size of the army, but it is said that because of the business depression there may not be such a rush for discharges as would naturally have been expected.

It is said that Tex Rickard's net profit from the great prize fight will exceed half a million dollars. No wonder he is not prepared to tear down the "saucer."

Wisconsin has deemed it expedient to pass a law prohibiting the manufacture of "home brew." But if this contains more than half of one per cent of alcohol why is its prohibition not provided for by the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act?

The Department of Labor says the cost of living decreased 16.7 per cent between June, 1920, and May, 1921. The people would have appreciated a bigger cut, but the drift is in the right direction.

MIRACLE GUN GOOD FOR PEACE OR WAR

The so-called miracle gun tested recently in a laboratory in the Woolworth tower by Miller Reese Hutchinson performed repeatedly an experiment, the development of which might greatly increase the speed and penetrative power of gunfire, while it promises in the industries of peace vastly to simplify the process of riveting entering into all steel construction, whether of buildings, ships or bridges.

Dr. Hutchison, in the presence of many distinguished engineers, using the metal gun device no longer than his arm and looking like a big syringe, drove through a steel plate three-quarters of an inch thick a sharp-nosed bullet three inches long and about one-half inch in diameter. In doing this, he said, the quantity of gun-powder used was only one-third the amount burned in discharging a small rifle. There was no smoke attending the experiment and the only audible sound was that caused by the impact of the slug as it penetrated the plate. The bullet, the experimenter said, travels at the velocity of a mile a second with a charge of only twenty grains of powder behind it.

Dr. Hutchison, using his right arm only, held the gun of syringe-like appearance directly against the steel plate, which was set across an ordinary wooden box filled with what appeared to be sawdust. The release of this almost incredible power and velocity seemingly was effected by a slight downward push such as might be used in emptying a large metallic syringe and it was attended apparently by no recoil such as would be felt from an ordinary gun. For wartime use enlarged guns of this type, Dr. Hutchison said, could be made to throw five ton gas shells for miles. He quoted an ordnance expert as giving a range of 300 miles.

Perhaps the most mystifying feature of the device is that the degree of penetration may be regulated by the size of the charge and that the penetration of the slug may be stopped at the will of the operator. Dr. Hutchison a dozen times shot through the plate rows of bullet-like slugs the bottom half of which had been threaded like a screw. He caused the missiles to stop exactly where the threaded portion of the slug—or rivet—impinged upon the lower surface of the plate. Then to demonstrate the utility of the device in steel construction, he speedily adjusted screw nuts to the dozen or more bolts he had shot through the tempered steel in perfect alignment. And he did it all in less time than it takes to tell it, and then tightened up the nuts.

Dr. Hutchison said in steel construction the fastening down of the rivet heads would be achieved with the single motion that drives the rivet through the steel plate—that is, by the simpler discharge of what in its application to war will be a new weapon; soundless, smokeless and of tremendous penetrative power. The device also, he said, will be of vast value in blasting operations.

"As a matter of fact," said he, "this principle, which is a new one in ballistics was primarily developed under the stress of the war. Its application to the peace industries is what interests us principally now, and it is not difficult for you to see how this little device may eliminate the nerve-racking din attending the hammering of the pneumatic riveting machines now used on all steel construction, besides vastly simplifying the process of riveting plates with great economy of time and effort.

"This device can be used under water. I had a diver take it down to the bottom of the Hudson River and there at a depth of thirty-six feet, it drove its rivets perfectly and they were so tightly inserted through the three-quarter inch plate that it required a pressure of eight tons to force them out once they had been driven. This suggests great utility in the speedy repair of shattered vessels."

The weapon was the invention of John Temple, a British subject, who discovered the principle in 1915, and really developed it after coming to the United States later on. He first came to this country in 1883, and returned to his native country at the beginning of the war, when he had an opportunity to study practically every type of gun used by the Allies.

For years he had been at work developing pneumatic tools manufactured eventually by the Ingersoll-Rand Company, among them being the Temple-Ingersoll electric rock drills and tools of various descriptions. The perfection of his remarkable gun was brought to the attention of William L. Saunders, chairman of the board of that corporation, who, during the war, was head of the Naval Consulting Board, to which, for a time were submitted all the inventions offered for possible use against the Germans.

Mr. Saunders was impressed with the idea worked out by Mr. Temple and referred him to Dr. Hutchison, who also was connected with the Navy Consulting Board. Dr. Hutchison interested himself in the invention in the belief that its possibilities as a tool of construction ultimately would prove to be of more importance than its powers for destruction.

BUSINESS MEN TO AID POSTMASTER GENERAL OF ENGLAND

London, July 7—The Postmaster-General has called upon the business men of Great Britain to aid him in solving the problem of how to operate the postal, telegraph and telephone services efficiently and without a deficit.

A council of business men has been appointed to assist in the management of the department. H. Gordon Selfridge, the American merchant in London, is one of the 19 appointees. The others include bank directors, presidents of Chambers of Commerce, railroad managers and other leaders of industry. One is a newspaper proprietor, Viscount Burnham of the London Daily Telegraph.

The Postoffice Department estimate for the current year show a deficit of 3,500,000 pounds. The Postmaster-General had proposed to cover this by increasing the rates on the second class and but now this project has been abandoned.

The question why the department should show a loss has been the subject of much debate in the newspapers. The Department has a monopoly in the United Kingdom of the mails, telegraphs and telephone, thus making it the greatest business in the country. Yet, on a combined revenue of 70,000,000 a year it has been run at a loss. One writer has attributed the deficit to the doubling of the penny postage on letters which took place during the war and its retention since.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Yesterday the group of girls that gathered at the Y. W. C. A. Girls Hour were read to from Margaret Slattery's Book, entitled "Just Over the Hill." The chapter on "Cheerfulness" was greatly enjoyed, as was the chapter "Girl Who Worships Twin Idols" from Slattery's book "The Girl and Her Religion." There are several Business Girls and Girl Reserves who are planning to go to the Northern School of Religious Education at Durham on Wednesday, which is Portsmouth Day. The Association will be very grateful to anyone who would like to offer the use of their car for this occasion. If you are thinking of going with the Y. W. C. A. girls, please call up the Association and give your name. We want the Association to have a part in making Portsmouth Day a great success, and co-operate with the churches by so doing.

The delegates from Camp Makonikey arrived last night, and from rumors heard this morning, it is very evident that leaving on the 13th and having number 13 room didn't in the least mar the Semperantica Girls good times or their luck. More will be told later about the joys of the conference camp and it is hoped that there will be a much larger delegation next year.

It is interesting to know that one of the chaperons for the Panama Canal zone youngsters, who are in New York to give an exhibition performance of fancy swimming and diving, is the leader of a Girl Reserve Corps in Panama, and at the Y. W. C. A. there many of these now extraordinary divers and swimmers learned to swim. The girls are greatly interested in the Five and Ten Cent Stores, which do not exist in their home towns and which are thrilling these recent guests. They say it beats the Zoo or Bus-Riding.

NAVY HOUSE CLEANING

Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, has set about a work of practical economy. He is getting rid of obsolete vessels which have cluttered up the navy lists, and is also disposing of real estate holdings of the department, the uses for which passed years ago. It is a drive to save public money and it has the full support of Secretary Denby and President Harding.

Already 166 vessels, including 151 submarine chasers have been sold. The old battleships Maine, Missouri and Wisconsin have been designated for sale. Bids will soon be asked for the cruisers Cincinnati, Minneapolis and Raleigh and the gunboats Castine, Marblehead and Yorktown. The government is selling the vessels because they are no longer efficient fighting machines. There has been a tendency to keep such ships, perhaps with a notion that some use might be found for them, and also, it may be, with an idea of making an impressive showing on paper, but in days when economy is somewhat more than an economic question, Mr. Roosevelt believes the saving involved in disposing of them fully warrants his action. Cutting out maintenance and repair charges on a lot of out of date craft will relieve the government of expenses which in the aggregate are heavy.

Some of the ships included in the order have been famous in their day. The Raleigh was one of Dewey's fleet at Manila, and was the first to return to this country. It was her skipper, Captain Coghlan, who created an international incident by his recitation of his breezy stanzas of "Hoch der Kaiser." Much was hoped from the Minneapolis, an early venture in commerce destroyers, and a fine example of her era. The battleships were in the fleet that went round the world in the Roosevelt administration. Bigger, faster and more powerful ships have been developed and they are hopelessly outclassed.

Some of the real estate to be marketed was bought when a timber supply for wooden ships was a consideration. There is, for example, a tract of 1160 acres of live oak growth in Georgia. Anybody who wants 111 acres of land at Dry Tortugas can be accomodated at the department. Then there is a small tract at Sacketts Harbor, N. Y. The navy department has owned it since 1815 and has paid for the services of a caretaker since there was any use to which it could put the property. These cases are cited as samples. The process now going on is a departmental housecleaning, with an eye to reduction of storage charges as well as to return from the property disposed of. The mere list of "odds and ends" of all sorts which are burdens upon the department rather than assets is said to cover several typewritten pages, and the forecast is made that by the time his campaign is finished, Mr. Roosevelt will have unloaded half the items enumerated.—Manchester Union.

PICTURE FROZEN NORTH

(By Associated Press)

Heroic glamour and dreadful risks of the frozen Arctic have gone the way of the pictured dangers and the romantic adventures and the old stories of the Wild West, according to Vilhjamur Stefansson, Canadian Arctic explorer who passed through here recently.

Eskimo of the white country live off the land, so why shouldn't the white stranger? he asks.

"There is no reason, Stefansson said "why two or three men should not go to the North Pole, or even to the pole of inaccessibility, which is in the center of the icy area four hundred miles further from navigable water from the North Pole, and live there for one or several years, depending for food, fuel and shelter solely on the meat, fat and skins of animals found there.

The explorer has under consideration plans for a new expedition to the north, he said here.

CARE IN BUYING

Nearly every buying mistake comes from not being careful enough. A trifle more time spent in making sure may save you many dollars and many hours of regret. The corset you buy and never wear is the really expensive corset. The corset that misses being exactly what you want is the one that costs more than you can afford. The ordinarily made corset that loses its shape and does not wear well is an extravagance. If you will permit us to properly fit you to a

BOYS ROB STORES AT HAMPTON

Three boys were arrested at Exeter on Saturday for breaking and entering at Hampton Beach. They attempted to sell some of the stolen property at Exeter.

Deputy Sheriff F. O. Tilton of Exeter and Officer John Howe of the local force made an inspection of the town but failed to locate the youths.

Two of them were finally captured by Ernest L. Bell, motorcycle detective who ran across them at Greenland. He commandeered an automobile and brought two to the Exeter police station and in company with Chief S. L. Blake of Hampton Beach and Officer Edward Murphy went in search for the third, who escaped when his partners were taken.

It was not long before he was captured in the lower part of Stratham and brought to Exeter where he was lodged with his comrades. The members of the party gave their names as Robert Conner, age 17, of Cliftondale, Mass., Adolph Valleaux, 18, of Lynn, Mass., and the last one brought in stated that he was Joe Novak, 18, of Philadelphia.

The lads broke into several stores at Hampton Beach and had in their possession several boxes of cigars, cigarettes and chewing gum, besides various other articles.

News of the Churches

St. John's Church

On the subject of "Insincerity," the rector, Rev. Nelson Kellogg, gave a forceful sermon Sunday morning. The text was from Philippians 1:10, "That ye may be sincere." He said in part:

"The one disgraceful accusation more than any other to many people is to be considered as insincere. Even men who commit criminal acts often compel admiration though not commendation on account of their being sincere in what they do. In man's religion there seems to be more insincerity than in anything else, because we do not realize that religion is the most important thing in the world, neither would we repudiate it entirely as false. If Christianity does not mean all the glory, power, and strength of this life and the next to us, it is nothing; there is no middle ground.

"St. Paul had great concern about the early Christians, being anxious for them to continue steadfast and confirm their lives to the principles for which they had taken a stand. For himself St. Paul always had fears that he would fail, that he would not live strictly up to what he preached, or that he would not be honest and sincere in the new religion he was so earnestly expounding.

"Shakespeare said 'Above all, be true to thine own self.' Paul was in the midst of a turbulent restless world in age of tremendous upheaval in political, social and religious circles. It took courage and strength not to be swayed by the disturbing influences around him, and keep true to his principles. There are times today when the whole universe seems to be in a conspiracy to annoy and overwhelm us with emphatic trifles.

"There are many matters in which we may be insincere. One of these is so-called breadth of mind which resolves our souls into that which is flat and shallow. Often we hear it said, 'It matters not what we believe, we are all bound for the same place.' No life is so unsatisfactory and unhappy as that of a person who has no positive ideal, and has not the least concern as to what becomes of the country, the church or anything else. A man with a firm idea in the wrong direction, is better than one who has no opinion or desire whatever.

"Of course it is best to have our minds and energies directed toward Jesus Christ in whom only is life eternal. Some people say, 'I am as good as my neighbors.' Suppose you are; there is no virtue in that. We are told to be as good as our Master, not to follow any other example.

"There is danger of insincerity in the matter of our sins. We become careless and do not feel the sorrow and need of penitence we should. Enough attention is not given to the sacraments, which we should value highly. The church attendance of Easter and Christmas is what it should be every Sunday. And it would be if we were each one whole-hearted ly sincere and honest, believing our religion to be the necessary vital thing in our lives. All our energy and ambition must be centered in the doctrines of Jesus Christ."

The annual picnic of the Sunday school and parish will be held at Rand's Grove, Rye, Wednesday, the participants going on the special car from Market Square at 9 a. m.

STORM DID BUT LITTLE DAMAGE HERE

The heavy storm of Friday night and early Saturday which did great damage in Massachusetts, flooding the streets, railroad tracks and doing untold damage to the electrical and telephone lines, did not do any where near as much damage in this city. There was a fall of rain estimated Friday night and Saturday noon o ftwo inches, and there was some damage to crops which were beaten down.

The local telephone company reported that while they had a good many wires out, it was nothing more than for an ordinary heavy shower. The trunk lines were however badly effected especially the lines into Boston and Saturday it was an effort to get toll calls through to Boston. The storm here turned into an easterly and Sunday was a disagreeable day. There was a heavy fog off the coast and the Beaches did not have their usual Sunday crowds.

The predictions are for a continuation of the warm weather all over the country. The heat wave has been so great that the weather sharks are seeking some reason for it. In the Middle West it has been especially severe and hundreds have died of heat prostration.

EMPLOYED ARE 45,000,000

About 90 per cent of the manufacturing plants in the United States have fewer than 500 employees, according to an official of the National Industrial Conference Board, 10 East Thirty-fifth street. The majority of all statistical figures concerning industrial problems deals only with conditions in the larger plants, only 10 per cent of the total number.

Even the unemployment surveys published from time to time present the facts as gathered from something less than 10 per cent of the total, it was said, although, of course, from a larger percentage of all wage-earners.

The term "unemployment" said an official of the conference board, as commonly used, relates only to industrial wage-earners in a limited sense. These, at most, represent about one-third of the number of people employed.

The figures for the last census covering this point are not yet available, this official said. "We are compelled to resort to estimates on the basis of the figures of the last census and percentages of growth revealed by such related items from the 1920 census as have been published. By this process we may figure that 45,000,000 people in the United States are employed. The 1910 figure was 38,167,000 and the percentages of growth would indicate 45,000,000.

"On the basis of the percentages employed in the various occupational groups in 1910 we may say that about one-third of the 45,000,000, or between 13,000,000 and 15,000,000 are industrial wage-earners. It is to this group that unemployment figures principally relate.

"About one-third of our people are engaged in agriculture and related pursuits, and this group, while affected by the depression, are not unemployed. Another third are engaged in trades, professions and auxiliary employments. This group also is not employed, although it also suffers financial losses from the business depression."

More Vigor

No matter what excesses have made you nervous and run down, Nitro-Phosphate is guaranteed by D. W. Adams to steady your nerves, sharpen your mind and give you vigor and ambition.

ARREST AUTOMOBILISTS WHO RIDE THREE ON FRONT SEAT

Whitman July 10—Chief of Police L. L. Phinney has commenced a crusade on automobile parties who ride three on the front seat. He declares that a car cannot be operated safely under these condition. Several parties have already been held up.

The chief maintains that it endangers the safety of the public as well as the safety of the occupants of the machine. He says it's impossible to operate a car when three people, not unlike three pieces of tomato in a club sandwich, are jammed into a narrow space. The feet of the passengers interfere with the emergency brake and frequently the driver operates with only one hand. After warnings cases may be taken to court.

Don't everybody try this. A West Virginia woman was told in a dream to write a song. She did so, and, by heck, it was published by a New York house.

LITTLE SLOOP ON 5000-MILE VOYAGE

Capt. Wallace Scott in his little sloop Pictou is headed for Plymouth and Boston, where his landings will be incidents in his 5000 mile trip from Pictou, N. S. to Panama. The Pictou, which is an open boat, only 16-feet over all, rushed off from Pictou, N. S. May 11. With Capt. Scott, whose home was formerly in Chelsea, long a coasting skipper, are Joseph Maloney, a sailor fisherman and wireless operator—or would be if the boat had wireless—and James Campbell able seaman and cook.

The tip is primarily to make the longest voyage ever attempted by an open boat of this size, without power, except her little mainsail and jib and some good oars.

Time is no particular object to the three men in the boat and they have no idea when they will reach Panama, perhaps not for a year or so. To make the log authentic, Capt. Scott secures the signatures of Mayors, town officials and customhouse officers at all the ports along the way, and he stops at the most of them, can if some distance off his straightest course for the Gulf of Mexico. He went up the Penobscot River to Bangor, leaving that port on Friday, and some time this week expects to go up the Kennebec as far as the Maine State capital in Augusta, and get the signature of Gov. Baxter.

The pictou is no yacht as far as accomodations go and her crew tie up somewhere when they need sleep and think in the softest or warmest place they can find. She is built on the "pea pod" model, lapstrake with a center board and is a fairly good sailor and comfortable if the going is not too rough. Capt. Scott has no boasts to make about her, except that she is strongly built and can stand a lot of grief.

Capt Scott's log bears credentials from officials in Port Hawksbury, Canso, Halifax, Lunenburg, Bridgewater, N. S. and Cutler, Machias, Bar Harbor and Bangor in Maine so far and at last accounts he was running for Rockland.

The three men in the boat are not superstitious. The Pictou's ballast is made up of some slate and marble tombstones picked up in Pictou after being discarded for some fault and startlingly blank after "Erected to the memory of."

RETROSPECTION

Restless graves of the ocean bed
Are rolling always to and fro;
By them, thoughts to the mind are led,
Concerning secrets that we know.

For years ships have sailed o'er the sea,
And many never to return;
Phantasams with facts oft agree;
While seeking destiny to learn.

Seated on the bleak briny shore
Or resting on the rocks and sand,
Souls have o'er dreamed of olden lore
And sought to solve mysteries all grand,

The wavelets sparkling in sunshine
Or hazy mists spread o'er the deep,
All reflect thoughts, sad or sublime,
While with nature we laugh and weep.

A gold moon rise with rays divine,
Truisms to elucidate;
We ponder on the shores of time
Shall we e'er find our own true fate?

SPORT NOTES
FOR SPORT FANS

A number of Dover men are talking a big Marathon race for Labor Day and in commenting on the same, the Dover Democrat has the following:

"The Marathon would be run between Dover and a neighboring city, where a 26-mile round trip course could be laid out. The distance between here and Portsmouth is such that the conditions would be ideal. It is 12 miles to Portsmouth. Runners starting here, could on reaching Portsmouth have an additional two miles in which to cover Portsmouth streets and interest the throngs that would turn out there to see them. With the start and finish in Dover a great crowd would be on hand. One of the Dover committee members while in Portsmouth recently, interviewed Supt. W. G. Meloon of the Portsmouth Dover and York St. Railway and one or two other prominent Portsmouth men, including Ex-Senator Marvin in regard to the proposed Marathon. They expressed instant approval of the plan. These men forsaw that a big Marathon coming into Portsmouth would bring many visitors to the city from Maine and Massachusetts and towns surrounding Portsmouth."

Freddie Maguire, crack second baseman of the Holy Cross baseball team now playing with the Augusta, Me., semi-professional team, is likely to don the uniform of the New York Giants within a few days. Manager McGraw, desperate for an infielder, has made a princely offer to the collegian. Maguire has not accepted the terms, but will have a conference with the big league management within a few days. Maguire is well known in this vicinity and for the two previous seasons he played with the Biddeford Diamond Match team.

Jeanette Rankin, the four-year-old filly, that Walter R. Cox and J. E. Kent of Newmarket sold to George Dudley of Youngstown last fall was very much in the limelight at the big circuit meeting at North Randall last week. The filly is in the stable of Lon McDonald and she was given her first start of the season with the pick of the country in the Tavern $6000 sinke for 2.11 trotters and she romped away from the field of 12 classy trotters, winning easily in straight heats. Jeanette Rankin was purchased at the sale at Madison Square Garden, New York, when a year old by Walter R. Cox. J. E. Kent of Newmarket later became half owner and she went into his stable at Newmarket and was trained and developed by Mr. Kent over the half mile track in that town.

Commenting on brothers who are playing on various New Hampshire baseball teams, "Skid" in the Concord Patriot, has the following:

"And here is another pair, considerably older, but still active. Down in the Portsmouth Sunset League Brother Bill Woods is managing the Athletic club entry in the league by the sea and Brother Walter, one time National leaguer and Dartmouth coach, is catcher, captain and all the works for the American Legion nine. Several other old-timers are in the league lineups, but some new stars also are shining including Dustin Alexander, U. S. N., who pitched for the Naval Academy at Annapolis a few seasons ago."

And he always could. As long as Sam can use the war club and retain that wonderful letting eye, he's going to be in uniform.

The cottages in which the actors in Shakespere's own company dived still exist in Southwark, Eng.

A TRAGIC SALUTE

Carelessness of an Artilleryman Resulted in the Loss of His Hands

(Dr. W. E. Crockett, in the Rockland Courier Gazette)

Reading of the recent trial of the warship Tennessee, I was reminded of the visit to Rockland (East Thomaston) of the first U. S. warship (probably the U. S. steam frigate Missouri) and am wondering if there is a person there besides myself who remembers the circumstance. The time was about 1810, when I was a boy of five or six years. My father was captain of the artillery—I think it was a two-gun battery of six-pound, smooth-bore brass pieces. My father was selected as one fit to pilot the ship into harbor, and joined her some twenty miles outside. As there was to be a salute fired he took time and special care to caution the men of the battery to be careful to avoid accidents. The ship came to anchor about half a mile from the shore, in a southeast direction from the small wharf which at the time stood where the steamboat landing of today stands. There was only one gun of the battery used, and it was handled by three men, Cushing, Tate and Hayward. Sam Tate was set the left of the gun, Cushing at the right and Hayward thumbed the vent. It was the regular custom to wear a leather pad on the thumb, to protect the thumb from the heat. Hayward was a strapping, husky lad and essayed the job with bare thumb. The two men swabbed the gun after each discharge, entered the cartridge and rammed it home. At each strike each man should let go of the rammer, for safety. After a few shots the gun became very hot. Haywards thumb slipped and there was an explosion. Tate was careful, Cushing was not, and his two hands were picked up nearly a mile from shore, still attached fast to the ramrod. In after life, I often saw Cushing when he drove his team in from the country. Two hooks served him as hands and he seemed to notice the loss of his hands but little.

TEACHERS HALT HIGHER EDUCATION

Peking, July 11.—Higher education in Peking, halted by a strike of teachers and administrative officials in all eight government institutions last March, appears now to have come to a complete standstill through resignation enbloc of the strikers.

Inability to secure payment of over due salaries was the cause of the strike. Failure of the government to meet subsequent demands, embracing establishment of a reliable fund sufficient to ensure financial stability of the schools and colleges, was the reason for the resignations.

Eight hundred teachers and 6000 students are directly affected by closing of the schools. The students made common cause with the instructors and declared that they would not resume attendance until the teachers' demands were met.

Recently, after the minister of Education had tendered his resignation because of inability to remedy the plight of the schools, the Ministry of Finance let it be understood that the sum of $250,000 monthly would be available for educational purposes. Thereupon the minister withdrew his resignation and the teachers were inclined to resume their vocations. They held off for satisfactory guarantees however, and misunderstandings arose when it developed that the sum proposed by the ministry of finance was intended to cover expenses of the Ministry of Education, in addition to expenses of the schools, whereas the teachers and students demanded $200,000 monthly for the higher schools alone.

The Minister of Education received his demand to be believed and his resignation was accepted. The teachers continued petitioning the premier and the Ministry of Finance, but without result. At a meeting of the "joint teachers' council" an organization growing out of the strike, when it was resolved to resign in a body, the instructors determined, if possible, to finance the schools independently of the government.

"If this cannot be done in Peking," the resolution recited, "there are other places that would welcome us with open arms. If necessary we shall go forth as private citizens and undertake to see that education throughout the land continues."

A manifesto to the public issued by the teachers, says in part:

"In the past few years the political situation has become more confused and turbulent than ever. The militarists are fighting for individual power and the unity of the country is a thing of the past. During this critical period the only thing that has kept the nation from falling to pieces has been the school, and by the school we mean education and development of education. The government, if it had any real sincerity would appreciate this and would do its best to protect those educators who have been fighting to maintain the spirit of the nation. We do not propose to sit idly by and see the nation fall to pieces because of party strife."

A VACATION CLUB

A new feature of the Piscataqua Thrift Club is the opening of a Vacation Series whereby money can be saved for your vacation next year in a manner similar to the Christmas series. The Club term runs 50 weeks beginning the week of July 4th and ending June 12, 1922. If payments are made regularly each week for the 50 week term, checks will be mailed to each member at maturity on the following basis:

50c each week amounts to $25.42
$1.00 each week amounts to $50.84
$2.00 each week amounts to $101.68
$5.00 each week amounts to $254.20.

This method provides a very convenient way of being assured of your vacation and also the maturity coming in the early summer, it interests many people in providing funds for their taxes which come due in July each year. It also can be used for other purposes such as, putting in your winter's coal supply or paying insurance premiums, etc.

This Vacation Club is now open for membership and we suggest that you enroll as early as possible in order to avoid the busy period around July 1st.

DIVER FINDS COCKTAILS

A deep sea diver working on the bottom of Marblehead harbor, found a corked bottle of Martini cocktails, which, being sampled, showed that it was up to the reputation of this famous decoction. It is said there are other wet goods on the bottom of the harbor besides water.

HARDING RULED IN FAVOR OF THE BOYS

Washington, July 10.—President Harding has approved the finding of the schoolboys' jury which decreed that the owls in the White House grounds may live. Interest in the subject was widespread among nature-loving children all over the country, hundreds of whom submitted briefs to the American Forestry Association which arranged the trial.

The President today addressed his reproval to Jimmie Bradley, a Washington schoolboy and member of a John Burroughs Club, who headed the jury, in the following letter:

"My Dear Jimmie—Your conclusion is that the balance is in favor even of the least desirable of the birds and I am inclined to agree with you; for why should these birds have been put here, unless to perform some useful service? On the whole, I think we will grant them a reprieve. I hold your John Burroughs Club must be doing a useful work. I hope you will continue your nature studies and that later on, when you all become men and women, you will be as much disposed to apply the rules of equity and justice as you have been in this case. Most sincerely yours.

DAMS GIVE WAY UNDER RAIN PRESSURE

(By Associated Press)

Brockton, Mass, July 10.—The collapse of two dams today released millions of gallons of water flooding the surrounding country and threatened to put the electric light plant of the Edison company out of commission.

SAVES THOUSANDS IN WASTE PRODUCT

There is one place in the United States where the junk man dare not tread. He may ply his ancient calling along every one of the highways and byways of every one of these forty-eight States, yet never make his way into the big manufacturing plant of the Western Electric Company near Chicago. Ever since 1909, when the great electrical concern decided to be its own junk man, its gates have been closed, except on rare occasions, to the independent member of the waste product world.

The Western Electric Company waste products represent a value of about $1,500,000 yearly in normal times. They include everything on the manufacturing menu, right down to or up cuts. They are copper, lead, tin, antimony, cadmium spelter, nickle, aluminum, bronze, all sorts of steel, metal borings, rubbers, yarns, paper, oils, lacquers, etc. The machines at the plant near Chicago trim off about 1,000,000 pounds of yellow brass trimmings each year. Instead of going to the junkman, these trimmings are put through a special process that keeps them free from foreign matter and are sold back to the brass manufacturers. Recently 150,000 pounds were sold to a manufacturing concern that used the trimmings directly in its crucibles in place of brass ingots, thus saving on the original cost, and also on that of smelting. Copper magnet wire is another big scrap item with the Western Electric Company. It runs into a total of some 400,000 pounds yearly. Most of its is bought by small manufacturers, who use it in making transformers and other small electrical apparatus. Galvanized iron pipe is the copper magnet wire in its scrap importance. It amounts to about 800,000 pounds a year also. At present there is little call for this type of waste except from sash weight manufacturers and toy concerns. The Western Electric has found outlets for thousands of other types of its outcast material. Its most recent discovery was that it would get twice as much for its excess German silver from novelty jewelry companies and fountain pen concerns as it had been offered by its friends, the junk men. FIRST MARINE GUARD ARRIVES FOR PRISON

Seventy Picked Men From New York Will Go on Duty Tuesday.

The first detachment of the Marine Guard for the Naval Prison, under the reorganization arrived at the Portsmouth navy yard on Sunday.

The detachment numbered 70 men in command of Lieut. F. D. Cowle and came from New York. The commanding officer reported to Col. Bannon of the yard Marine barracks, where the men will be quartered until Tuesday when they will further report to Col. South, Commandant of the prison, and begin duty there. It is understood that the contingent are all picked men and most of them have just completed sea duty on the big ships.

The remainder of the guard for the prison will come along later.

POLICE COURT

Joshua Lofton and his wife Emma were heard on the charge of assault which opened up with an argument at the family home on Sunday morning over the chopping of some wood. The husband charged her with hitting him with a bottle and she denied it was a bottle but admitted that she winged him with a cup. The condition of his head showed something bounced on his coco. His better half was disfigured about the eyes and told the court that her condition was due to the strong arm action of her husband. Joshua claimed he punched in self defence. Both appeared to be sorry for the mixup and the court imposed a sentence of ten days in jail for both but suspended the same during good behavior.

Louis Zeldman charged with the illegal possession of liquor on his premises pleaded not guilty through his attorney, John L. Mitchell, but offered no testimony in defense. The court ordered a fine of $50 and costs of $13.30.

Otto Green, a sailor, charged with disorderly conduct, was arrested by Patrolmen S. Sullivan and Ellingwood on State street on Sunday. Otto warned the residents of the neighborhood to know that he was no piker and he was ready to clean up any Filipino that would stand before him. He was not particular about his little brown brothers from Cavite or Manila, but would take on a few marines to make the day a perfect one. He reduced his speed when the happy wagon arrived and today he separated himself from $10.62 for the impolite declarations he made on Sunday.

The case of Everett McDonald and Hyman Wentworth charged with breaking and entering on the night of July 3 was again continued until Wednesday.

ARRESTED BY THE HAMPTON POLICE ON THREE CHARGES

Herbert Hirth of Arlington, Mass., was arrested by Chief of Police Blake of Hampton at Hampton Beach on Sunday and later brought to the county jail in this city. Hirth was first charged with operating an auto without a license and later it was found that the car he was operating had been stolen from the owner at Arlington. Hirth it is alleged, has been handling bad checks and is wanted by the police of Exeter on that charge. He will be taken back to Hampton today and arraigned in the police court before Judge Lamprey.

UNITARIAN CONVENTION AT THE SHOALS

The annual summer convention of the New England Unitarian Association, opened at the Isles of Shoals on Sunday and it will continue for a week or more. Saturday about 150 of the members arrived and were taken to the Island, and as many more are expected.

AT CITY HALL

The school board meets on Tuesday evening.

The Board of Public Works meets on Tuesday evening.

The grounds in front of City Hall will again be put in order and the public is requested to use the side walk.

The City Council will meet this week.

The bridge work so far as the city is concerned will be ready on time.

Twenty thousand gallons of oil was put on the streets this week.

The gates at the North Mill pond have been put out of commission by the force of water. New iron parts are being rushed and the gates will be repaired at once. The odor from the pond has of course been very annoying to residents. The sewer there will also be repaired at once.

The police are making an example of law violators with autos.

EX-MAYOR IS 91 YEARS OLD TODAY

Hon. John H. Broughton, Retired Business Man, Very Active for His Years.

Today Hon. John H. Broughton, one of Portsmouth's former mayors and most respected citizens, is quietly observing the ninety-first anniversary of his birth at his home on Middle street.

Mr. Broughton is unusually active and alert for one of his years and was driven down town this morning as is his custom daily. He called at the Herald office and was given hearty greetings by Mayor Hartford.

The veteran lumber dealer is one of the best known men in the community. He was born in this city July 11, 1830 and passed all his life here. At the age of 15 he entered the employ of Barker & Adams, lumber dealers at the foot of Daniel street. In 1851 he became sole proprietor of the lumber business and occupied the same stand for nearly 40 years. On Jan. 1, 1919 he sold his lumber wharf and property attached to C. E. Walker & Co., and retired from business.

Mr. Broughton has been a director of the First National Bank and the Piscataqua Savings Bank for 50 years. In politics he was a staunch Republican and took an active interest in all affairs of the party. He is a member of the Middle Street Baptist church and of the Piscataqua Lodge. Mr. and Mrs. Broughton reside in the attractive house on Middle street, which has been their home for many years.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. Broughton and the wish that his good health may continue.

ENGINE TROUBLE DELAYS TRAIN

The B. & M. passenger train No. 2951 from Intervale to Portsmouth, due here at 6.30 p. m. was delayed over five hours on Sunday, leaving Portsmouth after 11 p. m. on account of locomotive trouble near Crockett's Crossing, a mile from Salmon Falls on the Conway branch.

A spare engine was sent from this city with a machinist who made repairs so that the dead engine and train could be hauled to Portsmouth. The Boston train with which the branch train connects, did not wait and left here on schedule time.

WORKED GAME ON MEN HERE AND PORTLAND

Men Give Up $7 on Promise of Work and Are Left Stranded by Swindler.

One of the most heartless swindlers to work his game here for some time is the man the police want on complaint of a half dozen Italian residents who were fleeced of their money by the stranger who promised them work at a summer hotel in Belmont, N. H., or some other place on the remittance of $7 each. The men, most of them, had been out of work for many weeks and were pleased to accept most anything at any place. They paid over the money and the crook took them to Portland where he hired as many more men under the same agreement. To make the thing look good he put them all up at the Hotel Florence in Portland stating that the party would be ready to move the following morning. When morning came, however, the slick fellow was not to be found and the men were left, most of them, without a cent in their pockets. They sought the aid of some of their countrymen and managed to get home.

Most of the Portsmouth men had families and were obliged to borrow the money which they handed over to the stranger. The impostor is known around Boston and the men from this city mean to find him in jail. They have given the local and Boston police a good description of the man.

Keep Your Baby in the Health-Giving Fresh Air.

Nature works the same with the child as with the plant. Transplant a flower from your garden and bring it in-doors, away from the air and sunshine and watch it lose its strength and beauty.

A baby, like a plant, needs all the fresh air it can get during the summer time—and all the time. Don't keep the little one indoors these nice summer days when for a few dollars you can purchase a wonderful carriage or stroller in which you can leave the baby on the porch, in the yard or take it for a ride.
